

Joe Whalen joins Immedica's Business development team

Stockholm, September 24, 2024 – Immedica is excited to announce that Joe Whalen has joined its business development team. Joe brings over a decade of experience from Horizon Therapeutics, where he was instrumental in growing the company from 20 employees with no sales to $3.6 billion in net sales and over 2,000 employees. Most recently, as Senior Vice President, Alliances & Business Development at Amgen, Joe played a key role in integrating Horizon following its $28 billion acquisition in 2023.

At Horizon from 2010-2023, Joe was pivotal in driving the company's strategic transactions. In his role at Immedica, he will focus on business development initiatives primarily in the U.S., operating part-time under a consultancy agreement from his base in the greater Chicago area. He will report directly to Immedica's Head of Business Development.

"We are thrilled to have Joe on board," said Anders Edvell, CEO at Immedica. "Joe's vast industry knowledge and successful track record in strategic deal-making will be key as we continue to drive growth and expand Immedica's footprint in the rare disease and specialty care sectors."
